- Limestone is located in Gaffney, South Carolina and was established in 1845. It was the first women's college in South Carolina and one of the first in the United States. Founders Dr. Thomas Curtis and son William Curtis, distinguished scholars from England, sought to provide educational opportunities to those who had not otherwise had them. In the late 1960s, Limestone became fully coeducational. Limestone's campus is a unique landscape of history and progress. Nine buildings are included on the National Register of Historic Places. Our programs lead to a Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Social Work, Associate of Arts, or Associate of Science degree.
